WHO DOES OUR PRIVACY POLICY APPLY TO?

IFYS' Privacy Policy applies to:

- All current and past members and officers of IFYS whose personal information we have collected;
- All clients or other such persons whose personal information is collected in relation to the services offered by IFYS; and
- All individuals whose personal information is collected by us in the course of our functions and activities such as service providers, contractors and prospective employees.

The Privacy Act and IFYS' Privacy Policy do not apply to acts or practices which directly relate to the records of employees of IFYS.

This Privacy Policy explains:

- the nature of the personal information we may collect from you;
- how we manage the personal information that we collect, use and disclose;
- how to contact us if you:
 - have any questions about our management of your personal information; or
 - would like to access or correct the personal information we hold about you; or
 - would like to lodge a complaint with us regarding our compliance with Privacy Laws.

THE INFORMATION WE MAY COLLECT

IFYS is a not-for-profit community service organisation, delivering programs and services throughout Queensland in areas including (without limitation):

- Disability and Care Services
- Foster Care
- Child Protection
- Youth Services
- Family Support Services
- Employment and Training Services
- Social Enterprise Projects.

To provide its services, IFYS engages and coordinates employees, volunteers and service partners. We rely on donations, funding and support from private and public corporations, community groups, various levels of government and from members of the community at large.

The types of personal information we may collect include (without limitation):

- identifying information such as name, date of birth, gender and employment details;
- contact information such as home and business addresses, phone numbers, postal addresses and email addresses;
- government-issued identifiers including Tax File Numbers or Medicare numbers, ABNs or ACNs;
- financial information, such as credit card details or bank account details;
- information on personal issues and experiences, relationships, family background, supports clients may have in the community and areas of interest;
- qualifications, skills and experience; and
- health information including (without limitation) WorkCover history and/or medical history.

Where possible we collect your personal and sensitive information directly from you. IFYS collects information through various means including telephone and in-person interviews, appointments, forms and questionnaires. If you feel that the information that IFYS is requesting, either on our forms or in our discussions with you is not information that you wish to provide, please feel free to raise this.

In some situations, IFYS may also obtain personal information about you from a third party source. If information is collected about you in this way, IFYS will take reasonable steps to contact you and ensure that you are aware of the purposes for which the personal information was collected and the organisations to which IFYS may disclose your information, subject to any exceptions under the Privacy Act. For example, IFYS may collect information about you from a health care professional, such as (without limitation) your doctor.

We do not create, use or store profiles of our clients and service partners. We only record information that we reasonably require to properly interact with you in the course of carrying out our services.

You generally have the right not to identify yourself when dealing with us where it is lawful and practicable for us to allow it. However, on some occasions we may not be able to do this.

If you do not provide or authorise the provision of personal information we request, we may be unable to provide you with some or all of our services or the services of our service partners.

By becoming or remaining a client or service partner of IFYS, by utilising any of our services or the services of any of our service partners sourced through us, or by otherwise providing personal information (including sensitive information) to us you confirm that you, and other individuals whose information you provide, have consented to our collecting, using and disclosing your and their personal information (including sensitive information), however collected by us, in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

HOW WE MAY USE OR SHARE YOUR INFORMATION?

We may use personal information in any of the following ways:

- responding to and fulfilling requests for our services;
- endeavouring to ensure that the services we are providing are the most appropriate services to meet relevant needs;
- meeting any requirements of government funding programs;
- monitoring and evaluating existing services and planning for future service needs;
- responding to questions or suggestions;
- retaining information for statistical purposes so that we may improve or better direct our services;
- storing information to save time when dealing with clients or with persons authorised to deal with us on a client's behalf;
- managing and developing our service and operational processes and systems;
- conducting marketing, feedback and research activities;
- managing and resolving any legal or commercial complaints or issues;
- performing other functions and activities relating to our services and activities;
- responding to applications for employment;
- processing donations and providing receipts; and
- compliance with our legal obligations generally.

In doing so, and for the purposes of this Privacy Policy generally, we may disclose personal information to persons or organisations in Australia and overseas including (without limitation):

- our service partners involved in managing or providing some of our services. Steps are taken to ensure they comply with the APPs when they handle personal information and that they are authorised only to use personal information in order to provide the services required by us;
- our professional advisers, including (without limitation) our lawyers, accountants and auditors;
- former employers and referees of prospective IFYS employees, including (without limitation) volunteers;
- doctors and other health care professionals, who assist us in the delivery of our services;
- other government or regulatory bodies, such as WorkSafe or WorkCover;
- your agents and advisers or other persons authorised by, or responsible for you;
- government departments or agencies who provide services or funding for our services;
- other parties to whom we are authorised or required by law to disclose information; and
- in other circumstances with your consent.

Except as set out above, IFYS will not disclose a person's personal information to a third party unless:

- the person has consented to the release;
- the disclosure is required or authorised by law; or
- the person would reasonably expect us to use or give that information for a purpose properly related to that for which it was collected.

HOW WE SECURE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

We take all reasonable steps to protect your personal information from misuse, loss and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. We store your information securely and have a range of security controls in place to ensure that your information and documents are protected. Our employees receive Privacy awareness training, and access to personal information is restricted to appropriately authorised individuals.

We also take reasonable steps to make sure that the personal information that we collect, use and disclose is accurate, complete, up to date and relevant. We keep your personal information for only as long as it is required in order to provide you with products and services and to comply with our legal obligations. When it is no longer needed for these purposes, we take reasonable steps to destroy or permanently de-identify this personal information.

Information used for Marketing

We collect information from various sources, including external sources, for the purpose of raising funds and developing programs to further progress the aims and objectives of IFYS. We may provide basic information regarding our contacts (name, address, and telephone numbers) to external organisations. However, we provide our contacts with the opportunity to decline or modify any further direct marketing.

HOW WE COMMUNICATE WITH YOU

To keep you informed quicker, where you provide us with an email address we will send most communications to you by email.

You can choose how we communicate with you and manage your consents to receiving information by contacting us through the contact details found at the foot of this Privacy Policy.

HOW YOU MAY ACCESS AND CONTROL YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

You can ask whether we are keeping personal information about you by contacting us. If we have retained information on file, you may request a copy of it. You may also wish to apply to amend the information if you believe it to be incomplete, inaccurate or irrelevant.

We will generally provide you with access to your personal information, if practicable (although an administration fee may be charged), and will take reasonable steps to amend any personal information about you which is inaccurate or out of date.

You can get in touch with us through the contact details found at the foot of this Privacy Policy to request the above any time you wish to do so.

In some circumstances, we may not permit access to your personal information or may refuse to correct your personal information. Where this happens we will provide you with reasons for this decision seek alternatives and take any further legally required steps.

DO WE DISCLOSE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION OVERSEAS?

IFYS will not usually send or store personal information outside of Australia.

Where we do, we take reasonable steps to ensure that your information is given the same type of protection as it is afforded within Australia. This may be through satisfying ourselves that the overseas organisation has controls in place to comply with the Privacy Laws, ensuring that the overseas organisation is located in a country which we believe has a similar privacy regime to Australia or through contractually mandating the adequate management of the information.

On occasion, we may also disclose your personal information to overseas organisations where you instruct us or expressly consent to us doing so. In such cases, we may not take the above steps in relation to the management of your information.
